INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES ON SPATIAL DYNAMICS AND MARGINALIZATION IN CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE

A SERIES EDITED BY
ELISA-MARIA HIEMER AND MAGDALENA BARAN-SZOŁTYS

ABOUT THE SERIES

Our series responds to the need for an interdisciplinary platform and invites scholars to contribute to a holistic understanding of the historical and contemporary complexities of Central and Eastern Europe—a region that has become pivotal to European and global relations in recent years.

The series is dedicated to studies using space as an analytic tool and a category to scrutinize the framing of minorities from the 19th century onward in both geographical and discursive spaces. Manuscripts investigate the factors that affect the perception and self-perception of groups that are considered minorities based on their ethnicity, language, social status, or gender. Possible topics include the dichotomy of overcoming peripheral positions versus cultivating in-between states, the agency of marginalized groups transitioning from the periphery of society to the center, and the dynamic redefinition, appropriation, and rebranding of geographical, social, or fictive spaces.

The series also invites exploration of the historical contexts and social dynamics that have shaped marginalization in Central and Eastern Europe, with the goal of providing a comprehensive understanding of the region's development and contemporary condition.

PROPOSAL GUIDELINES

To submit a manuscript for consideration by Lexington Books, please send:

- a prospectus (see below for details)
- a detailed table of contents
- one or two sample chapters
- your curriculum vitae

If you are proposing a contributed volume, please include titles, affiliations, and brief resumes for each of the contributors, as well as chapter abstracts.

The prospectus should include:

1. A description of the book, describing the core themes, arguments, issues, goals, and/or topics of the work, what makes it unique, what questions it seeks to answer, and why you are qualified to write it. (2-5 pages)
2. A description of your target audience (undergraduate or graduate students? scholars? professionals?).
3. An analysis of competing or similar books (including publishers and dates), indicating distinctive and original elements of your project that set it apart from these other works.
4. A list of courses in which your book might be used as a text or supplementary text, indicating the course level at which this book may be used.
5. An indication of whether any part of your manuscript has been published previously, and if it is a doctoral dissertation, what changes you are proposing to prepare it for publication.
6. The length of the manuscript either as a word count or a page count (12-point type on double-spaced 8.5"×11" pages). Will there be figures, tables, or other non-text material, and, if so, approximately how many? If the text is not complete, please still estimate its final length, not including the non-text material.
7. If the manuscript is not complete, an estimation of when it will be finished. Is there a particular date by which you hope the book will be published (due to a historical anniversary, conference, etc.?)
8. The names of four to seven respected scholars in your field with whom you have no personal or professional relationship. Include their titles, affiliations, e-mail addresses, and/or mailing addresses.
9. An indication of whether the manuscript is under consideration by other publishers.

Please do not send your entire manuscript.
